EXPERIENCE

Electrika Ltd — Lead UX Designer, Project Manager

2015 - Present

OneTime – Product Information Management Web App

Responsible for research, design and project management to design a market leading PIM system for the manufacturing sector. I am currently leading a team of two full stack developers and two data analysts to build powerful data import, management and export tools.

Schneider Electric – Estimating Software iPad and Web App

Responsible for research, design and project management to redesign Schneider Electric's outdated estimating system. I lead a team of three full stack developers on a year long project to deliver a better experience for sales engineers on both iPad and the web.

British Gas – Site Survey iPad and Web App

Responsible for research and design of a site survey tool for British Gas engineers. The tool was designed to reduce callouts to unprofitable on site visits by asking customers to complete a simple survey and provide supporting images to allow sales engineers to pre qualify jobs.

Electrika – Product Search Web App

Responsible for research, design and project management to redesign an outdated web app for looking up product information for electrical estimating. I lead a team of three full stack developers on a six month project to deliver a better overall experience especially on mobile and improve SEO. We increased website traffic by a massive 1,233%.

Unitrunk – Product Website Web App

Responsible for research, design and project management to redesign an outdated website for one of our clients. Myself and a full stack developer created a simple product website for Unitrunk to pull data from the OneTime API.
